Lieut. Gordon and Capt. Langhorne, R.A. started the batting for the Garrison while the bowling was entrusted to Macsenzia and Lammert. With the score at 5 Gordon was dismissed, at 17 Logan was caught of Lammert's bowling. Langhorne was out l.b.w. to Mackennie. Lieuts. Davies and Isacks now became associated and succeeded in greatly improving matars. After several changes in the bowling Lieut. Rawson, B.N., was put on and with his first ball bowled Isroke. The score by this time had reached 84 runs. Lieut. Laviss was caught at the second attempt by Grimble off Crawford's bowling, this player having made 46 runs, in spirited fashion. Lients Thompson, R.E., was unfortunately run out at 103, but with Lieut. Mr. Litchfield-Upon the evidence I have laid before you, sir. I have to ask for the committal of the accused for trial before a jury. The evidence is essentially, as in most cases of this kind circumstantial. I submit there is a prima facie case to justify committal for trial before a jury. The medical testimony points to the fact of death by argenic or some other poison. The syidence I have laid before you shows that arsenic in considerable quantities was introduced into the house shortly before his death. Part of that arsenic was traced directly to the hands of Mrs. Carow. It was shown that Mrs. Carow had the chief duty of nursing the deceased during the time of his illness. It was also shown, I submit, in spite of all appearances to the contrary; that the acoused led one person to believe that there were serious and almost irreconcilible differences between them. These are the broad facts before you. I ask for committal.

Gazette, writing on the 17th November, said :-It will be remembered that in this column last week I stated that the Carew case was the only subject which Yokohama residents seemed for the time being capable of disonssing. If the interest in the case was great then, it is infinitely greater now. Wherever mon-or women are gathered together, whether for business or pleasure, the conversation inevitably reverts to this latest sensation. A merchant said to me on Seturday afternoon, "The excitement is demoralising the community, and it is a pity the newspapers can't be suppressed."

The surprises of the past week were the discovery that letters found in the wastepaper basket were in existence and the missing and subsequent finding of one of these letters. Such extracts from the "stitched letters" as the Crown Prosecutor thought it was necessary to read have been made public; and it is possible that in the event of the case going for trial before the judge and jury all the letters will be read. In the interests of all, I think it would be better that the whole of each letter having any bearing on the case should be read. To read only extracts gives rise to suspicion. I happened to be in Court on Saturday when onger in the search for the missing document was Mrs. Carew, who knott on the floor and picked up a little pile of scraps of paper which In H.B.M. > THE CHARTERED BANK OF INDIA AUSTRALIA, AND CHINA.

An extraordinary general meeting of the shareholders of this Company was held on 21st October at the Cannon-street Hotel; Mr. John Howard Gwyther presiding. The Managen (Mr. Thomas Forrest) read the notice convening the meeting.

The CHAIRMAN-Gentlemen, I am presiding

on this occasion by the grace of my collengues

and I trust with your approval. (Applause.)

I have been emboldened to assume this position by the recollection of sixty-three meetings at which I have been present, when my predecessors in office invariably experienced at your hands a cordial sympathy, not only when the sun shone, but also when the clouds were threatening. You have always been reasonable. and never looked for the impossible at the hands of those to whom your interests were entrusted. As your are aware, our business to-day is limited to the declaration of an ad intering dividend for the six months ended 30th June last, but before submitting resolution to that effect for your approval I would explain that the bank is pursuing the eyon tenour of its way; there are no salient points in its history for the period under review. Profits have been increasingly difficult to make, besides having to contend with unexpeeted and considerable variations in the gold price of silver, which have occurred from week to week-nay, almost from day to day, we have had to face greater competition. For example, in Bombay, where five exchange banks would be more than ample for the actual needs of the commerciat community, there are nine. Not only are margins narrower, but managers are tempted to embark upon illegitimate ventures, in despair at not finding sufficient remuneration in bong fide transactions. In the further East there has been an abnormal depression in the export trade. The demon of war there has been succoeded by the spirit of discord in the Levent and across the Atlantic, and men have wisely narrowed their commitments until they see more clearly the outcome of the Ottoman question, and know the result of the Presidential election in America. The war between China and Japan has produced a lasting injury to the former. The indomnity of about £40,000,000 has compelled the alienation of revenues which might otherwise have been available for the construction of railways and for industrial enterprises. Japan is spending three-fourths of the amount in the purchase of ironclads and war material, instead of utilising the money for the reduction of her National Debt. We may therefore fairly say, apart from autold misery and wholesals sacrifice of life, that the vanquiched have been greatly impoverished, and that the victors have laid the foundation of increased yearly burdens for the up-keep of their augmented army and navy. As regards the immediate future, we look for increased ictivity if the Republican candidate obtains the victory. Stocks of raw products are unusually low in the United States, and with confidence restored there would probably be a wholesome activity in the China and Japan produce markets. India, unfortunately, has at present a black outlook, owing to the ahort rainfall. We will hone that the peril will be averted by timely showers, but we must face the fact that at the best great distress will prewail in the central and north-west provinces. No doubt Laucashiro will suffer from this unfortunate predicument, as there will be a lessened demand for cotton goods when bread stuffs are greatly enhanced in value. I have nothing more to say, gentlemen, except as regards our former chairman, Mr. Paterson, although he has, for his convenience and comfort, resigned the chairmanship, he gives the bank, as an ordinary director, his mallowed experience. Before I sit down I would also say as regards the staff that your chief manager at home and his colleagues, both here and abroad, have shown great vigilance, ability, and tast in carrying out the duties assigned to them: (Applause.) I will now move the resolution-That an interior dividend for the half-year ended June 30th last, at the rate of 7 per cent. per annum, free of income-tax; be now declared, payable on and after the 28th instant."

Mr. WILLIAM PATERSON-I have great leasure in seconding that resolution. The motion was then put, and carried unani-

Mr. James Jones proposed a cordial vote of thanks to the directors and the staif for their able management of the bank's affair. (Applause.) From a twenty years' residence amongst the Chinese people, he had come to the conclusion that, on account of the number of graves all over the country, and the prejudices in regard to them the construction of railways there was ulmost an impossibility. Light. Colonel R. A. NOWELL seconded the vote of thanks, which was put and carried by

acoldmation, and the proceedings terminated

The rolling and the pitching of the vessel added pictureque variants to the land sport. Be entistactory was the marine development that the writer pro-phesies:—"With prophetic oye I can foresee a time when noither 'liner' nor war ship will be complete without its round of holes. The links will doubtless be considered when the ressel is building; the boles will assuredly be permanent stars or circles flush with the deck, and placed in the happiest positions by some cumuing expert skilled in the science of marine golf. The game is undoubtedly capable of vast development, and, given a big ship, keen players, and no official let or hindrance, the pastime should become sufficiently important to recon-
